
The AI Wise Retail Assistant

Our view on chatbots is simple – its a fad, but some applications will survive and flourish. Here is one application where we think chatbots make perfect sense. Watch how a good chatbot adds to profits online – by smartly intervening when the customer is most doubtful.

Before buying simplest of things online, the buyer takes multiple small decisions at each step of the process. Each decision point creates doubt. Each decision must go right for the sale to go through. This is where a well designed and well equipped chatbot can add to profits.

What is Next-Generation Enterprise Search?

Coseer's search solutions are transforming industries from healthcare to finance. Our point-and-shoot AI trains finds answers and insights with 95%+ accuracy within 4-12 weeks - all of this in 100% security. The reason? We founded Coseer on the principle that computers should take care of the boring stuff so that humans can focus on creativity and judgment. To that end, we've built enterprise search solutions to complete complex workflows just as humans would in a fraction of the time. Fortune 500 leaders are using Coseer to speed up and automate their most complex work.

We follow a tactical approach to enterprise search:

- We deliver 95-98% accurate solutions within 4-12 weeks.
- Our solutions deploy entirely behind your own firewall for 100% security, and every decision point is logged for full transparency.
- You add the finishing touches, but our point-and-shoot AI practically trains itself. No more huge training data sets or time wasted annotating and tagging.
